Academy Notes.

The Academy has never been in a more flourishing condition than it is at the present time. There are now forty-six boarding students in the boarding department six more than the capacity advertised in the catalogue. The increased work in the different departments has made it necessary to add a new teacher to the faculty to aid in the teaching of mathematics. The new professor arrived Monday morning. He is Franklin T. Cole B. S., a graduate of the Pennsylvania State College, class of '00, for awhile he has been commandant of cadets in the Howe School at Lima, Indiana. He has also taught in the Nyack School on the Hudson, in New York State. No doubt he will be a very efficient instructor. Mr. Hughes is indeed to be congratulated upon the the success he is making of the Academy.

Mr. James H. Maize, a student at the Academy was suddenly called to his home on Sunday by the death of his mother which occurred at their home in Punxsutawney on Saturday night. The students and faculty have contributed toward the buying of some beautiful flowers for the funeral. The family have the sympathy of all who knew them, in this sad hour.

Everybody is looking forward to the Easter vacation which begins on the eleventh and lasts one week. A number of the students will spend their vacation at their homes while some will remain in Bellefonte.

The base ball prospects are very bright and great interest is manifested this year in this sport, specially because the base ball nine will appear in fine new uniforms.

Death of Albert Corl.

Albert Corl an ambitious and industrious young farmer on the Keichline farm near Fair Brook died at his home on Friday morning after two weeks illness with pneumonia.

Sad and Untimely Death.

Wednesday afternoon Nicholas Confer, a farmer, residing two miles west of Howard, put an end to his existence by hanging. He went to the barn and, not returning for some time, his wife went out and found him suspended by a hay rope about his neck, in the hay hole. She secured assistance immediately and when taken down the body was still warm, but unconscious, death had ensued from strangulation.

No cause can be assigned for the act. He was past fifty years, and always was considered an upright industrious citizen.

Death of an Old Lady.

The deceased whose maiden name was Mary Gehret had been an invalid for over five years suffering with a broken hip. She was about 80 years of age and is survived by three half sisters.

DIED OF ALCOHOLIC POISONING.

Harry Rider Found Dead Tuesday at Coburn.

On Tuesday afternoon Harry Rider, a son of George Rider, who lives a short distance south of Coburn along the railroad, was found dead in Weaver's grain house at Coburn.

As soon as the body was discovered Dr. G. S. Frank was telephoned for, who went at once to the place and found from the appearance of the body, and after a thorough examination, that death had occurred some time before he arrived. He immediately informed the county commissioners of the finding of the body and the suspicious circumstances connected with Rider's death.

The commissioners decided that an inquest was necessary and ordered F. P. Musser, justice of the peace of Millheim, to go to Coburn and hold the same, who upon arriving at the place where the body was lying, empaneled the following jury: A. L. Auman, W. L. Hosterman, G. R. Stover, G. B. Shaffer, J. C. Hosterman and A. J. Stover.

A number of witnesses were heard and the jury brought in a verdict of acute alcoholic poisoning.

From all the evidence produced before the inquest the following facts stand out prominently. That Harry Rider was not mentally sound and very easily persuaded by anyone. That he was inordinately fond of liquor and would drink it whenever furnished to him. That on the 22nd day of this month he reached his 21st birthday and was, on the day of his death celebrating that event. That the liquor was furnished to him by persons who should have known better and who will regret the death of Harry Rider as long as they live.

The body was taken to the home of the father Tuesday evening and Undertaker S. M. Campbell was ordered by the overseers of the poor of Penn township to prepare for burial, the father's circumstances being such that he was unable to do so.

Funeral services were held Thursday forenoon and interment was made at Aaronsburg.

Sad Death at Scotia.

Another old soldier William F. Heberling of Scotia, has answered the call of death and has gone home, to await the final roll call on that great resurrection day. One by one these martyrs of the dark days of 60, are being called home and in a very short time all will have answered these summons.

His death is a sad one, as this man served faithfully during the entire Civil War and received many wounds which he carries to his grave, and after he had passed through those trials, he was suddenly killed on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at Scotia.

Mr. Heberling was track foreman at the Scotia ore banks and has been in the employ of that company for a great many years and it was during the performance of his duty that he met with this horrible death. A train of cars broke from the engine and ran over him cutting off both legs, he only survived a few minutes after the accident.

Mr. Heberling was a member of company D. 148th Pennsylvania Volunteers, of which Gen. James A. Beaver was the commanding officer. He was also a member of the Captain J. O. Campbell's Post 272 of Pine Grove Mills and a consistent member of the Lutheran church at Gatesburg. He leaves an aged mother three brother and three sisters and hosts of friends to mourn his death. He was aged about 63 years. The funeral will occur on Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Taylor of Stormstown officiating.

Death of J. N. Lauth.

Word was received in Bellefonte this morning announcing the death at an early hour of Mr. J. M. Lauth at Gualadara, Mexico; son of the late Bernard Lauth of Howard, who in his time was one of our county's most influential citizens.

Mr. Lauth had been in Gualadara, Mexico; for some months past, and the news of his death comes as a great shock to his many friends who knew nothing of his illness. He was about 63 years of age and is survived by his wife who is a resident of Howard, and the following sisters and brothers. Mrs. Cameron Burnside, Philadelphia; Mrs. William Wilhelm, Buffalo; Mrs. Carrie Commerford, Mrs. Louise Commerford and Bernard Lauth of Howard. No arrangement for the funeral has yet been made.

—George Bainyak, of Glen Carbon, Pa. near Pottsville, lost his mind worrying over the mining situation and was with great difficulty imprisoned.

AMERICAN CAPITAL

To be Used to Promote Prosperity In Venezuela.

MANY SOLDIERS NEEDED

A New York Merchant Prince Says Castro is to be Eliminated from that Republic

AN AUTOMOBILE KILLS TWO PEOPLE

One of the wealthiest merchants in New York said Saturday night that arrangements are being perfected there and in Paris and London for a revolution in Venezuela which will annihilate Castro and open up that country to American capital and enterprise.

"A number of rich New York merchants are said to be interested in the movement, which, the promoters declare, will involve the employment of 15,000 soldiers and the expenditure of $5,000,000 in the campaign. President Castro, if the plans do not go astray, is to be either expelled or destroyed, and a native Venezuelan statesman is to be installed as his successor.

"In this connection it is said that Castro, anticipating a successful revolution against him sooner or later, has converted some of his alleged $40,000,000 fortune into cash and has sent it to America and France.

"Carlos B Fergueredo, Venezuelan consul in New York, said Saturday night at his home that he heard such an expedition was being organized, or promoted, but had been unable to learn anything definite about it. He said he had understood shares in the scheme were being sold.

"'I would like to get hold of one of those shares,' he said. 'I will buy all that are offered.'

"The consul inquired eagerly as to the point the expedition was to sail from. The expedition is to set out shortly from Europe in three large steamships, which are already under contract They are to carry about 5,000 volunteers, with the following quantities of arms and ammunition: Eight thousand Mauser rifles of the latest pattern, 24,000 rounds of cartridges, 500,000 shells, eight rapid fire guns, 5,000 army belts, 1,000 officers' swords, 1,000 officers' revolvers, 3,000 matchets and swords, together with other supplies.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

New York, April 2nd.—A woman and a 6-year-old boy were killed by automobiles Sunday in different sections of the city. The boy was Frederick Cullman, a son of William Cullman, assistant treasurer of the Metropolitan opera house. He was struck and killed by an automobile in West Sixty-fifth street.

The woman killed was Mrs. Alvina Stein, of St. Louis, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. George J. Kochler, a resident of New Rochelle. The latter was also seriously hurt and is in a hospital.

The women were walking in Pelham road and did not hear the approach of the automobile, which struck them and in which were riding two men and three women. Mrs. Stein and Mrs. Kochler were hurled with terrific force agains the stone abutments of a railroad bridge. Both were taken to a hospital, where Mrs. Stein died.

After the women had been struck the automobile was brought to a stop and one of the men alighted. He was seen to run back, take a hurried look at the prostrate forms and then hurriedly re-entered the machine, which was driven away at a rapid rate. The police tonight claim to have the number of the car and are trying to trace its owner.

Armed Mem Rob Postoffice.

Scranton, Pa. April 3,—Seven men burgularized the Dickson City postoffice, dynamited the safe and got away with $190 worth of stamps and $4 in cash. Edward Connelly, who lives over the postoffice heard the men breaking in the front of the building, and he stuck his head out of the window to inquire what was going on. He was covered with several revolvers and told to keep quite. He did. Two pedestrians, who happened on the gang at work were held prisoners until the job wa completed. They saw that the thieves were strangers to the town.

Tenderly Laid to Rest.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock the little body of Nina McMullen was tenderly laid to rest in the Union cemetery. The home on Beaver street was crowded with sorrowful friends who had gathered to pay a last tribute to the little girl who was dearly loved by all who knew her. Rev. Schmidt being ill, Rev. W. M. Yearick of the St. John's Lutheran church of this place officiating and in words filled with sympathy and love, told how this little girl although only eight years old was ready and expressed a desire to go to her Father in Heaven, who would give her eternal rest. Before she passed away she requested her parents not to weep, because she knew she would be safe in the arms of Jesus. What a wonderful faith for one so young. She also made a request that she wanted to meet them all beyond this vale of tears. The singing which was impressive, and beautiful was rendered by a quartett from the Reformed church composed of Mrs. Schmidt, Miss Lula Harper, Messrs Abram Lukenbach and C. C. Shuey. The honorary pall bearers were, Misses Stella Whittaker, Alice Shilling, Elizabeth Miller and Hazel Thompson. The casket bearers were James Caldwell, Roy Shilling, Charles Miller and Vincent Walker, all school mates of the deceased. The floral tributes were beautiful, among which was a large wreath given by the employees of the shops of the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania.

Game Laws in Italian.

On different occasions Italian laborers have violated the game law by shooting insectivorous birds and have had to pay a penalty for doing so. State Game Protector Kalbfus has been studying the situation carefully and has come to the conclusion that while many of the foreigners frequently break the game laws willfully, many do so because they are ignorant of the laws and that an effort is being made to educate the foreigners in regard to the game laws and the punishment if they are violated. Large posters printed on muslin, and in the Italian and Slavonic languages, have been prepared and will be posted up wherever Slave and Italians reside in the state, so that all may read.

These notices will be posted along the line of the Pennsylvania railroad and its branches, where many of the foreigners are at work, so that hereafter those who willfully shoot robins and insectivorous birds can no longer plead ignorance of the law.

Immigration Records Broken.

Albany, N. Y., April 4—During the last three months of 1905 they were 165,540 alien arrivals at the port of New York according to the quarterly bulletin of the state department of labor. This is an increase of 9000 ever the record-breaking figures of a year ago, the influx from Italy alone being larger by 20,000 than in the last quarter of 1904.

"New York becomes the home of 63,413 of the newcomers," says the bulletin, "and the fact that 35,728 or one-fourth of the 140,000 immigrants over 14 years of age can neither read nor write is not altogether reassuring."

Harlan Won't Resign.

Washington, March 31.—Justice Harlan's attention was called to the statement that he contemplated retiring from the bench and giving his time to the work or establishing a great Presbyterian church at Washington. He said that he felt deeply interested in that work and had expressed his willingness to aid it in every way in his power. But that he had no present purpos to retire from the bench at any particular time or for any special purpose. When he determined to retire his intention would be made known to the public.

MINERS STILL ALIVE

The Mine Gave up Those Mourned for Dead.

ENTOMBED 20 DAYS.

OVER 700 ARE STILL MISSING.

Lens, France, March 31.—Fourteen of the 1,200 miners who were entombed in the coal mines at Courrieres twenty days ago were taken from the mine alive and well. They had lived on hay found in one of the underground stables and the morsels, of food which they took into the mine with them nearly three weeks ago. All attempts to rescue the entombed men had been abandoned more than two weeks ago.

The sudden appearance of the imprisoned men caused stupefaction. A gang of salvagers had just completed their night's work when they were startled to see a group of miners, terribly haggard and exhausted, and with eyes sunken, appear from a remote part of pit No. 2. The strongest of the party said they had broken out of a distant gallery, where they had been entombed since March 10.

One of the men rescued Friday, a man named Nemy, said that for the first eight days the party ate the bark off the timbering of the mine. Later they found the decomposed body of a horse, which they cut up and ate with hay.

There is a report that in addition to the fourteen men brought up out of the mine there were five others who came with them almost to the bottom of the pit but were unable to come further on account of exhaustion.

The total number of men missing after the catastrophe was 1,212. The bodies recovered approximately numbered 500 and there are still unaccounted for approximately 700

The engineers explain that smouldering fires prevented them from exploring remote passages of the mine where it was thought that there could be no survivors. The mine owners also claim that the strike of miners reduced the number of rescuers available. Many engineers and scientists agree that all in the mine must have died long ago, Engineer Laur, however, dissents, asserting that the salvage work has been deplorably inefficient and he believes that scores died of exhaustion, owing to the poor work of the salvage companies.

Bruises.

No treatment for bruises is more prompt and efficacious than fomentations as hot as can be borne. Firm compression immediately over the injured place will often prevent discoloration, but the hot application will have the same effect The sooner the heat can be applied the better. Alternate applications of heat and cold are very effective. For all bruises, except those of the head, heat is the remedy, but for severe blows on the head cold is doubtless better. Fomentations may be used at intervals to lessen the soreness, but should not be continued more than five minutes at a time.

Toy Armies.

The smallest army in the world is that of Monaco, with 75 guards, 75 carbineers and 20 firemen. Next comes that of Luxemburg, with 125 gend-armes, 170 volunteers and 39 musicians. In the Republic of San Marino they can put in the field nine companies, comprising 950 men and 38 officers, commanded by a marshal. In Liberia the most striking feature is the proportion of officers to privates. There are 800 of the former and only 700 of the latter. None the less the republic issues proclamations of neutrality when wars break out between the great powers of Europe.

Over-Burdened Women.

Many a man sees his wife bend and tug at burdens that strain the back and the heart alike, without any idea of the outrage. Children follow in too quick succession to allow the mother time to recuperate. The womanly organs become displaced, there are debilitating, disagreeable drains, with the added pain of inflamed or ulcerated parts. In this condition the woman bravely tries to carry her household load, afraid to take the rest she needs lest a meal will be late. No wonder she is pale, weak, wretched, surly of temper and snappish of tongue. She would be false to nature if she were anything else. No persons need help so much as the class of whom this woman is the type. And for such women no help is so sure, so wonderful, as that given by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It restores all the womanly organs to perfect health. It establishes regularity in their functions. It restores the strained and shattered nervous system. It clears up the complexion, rounds out the form and makes life a daily happiness. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol or whisky. It is the best medicine for women. Nothing can be "just as good" as the best. Tell the dealer so if he offers a substitute.

"I wrote to you in 1902, about my case," writes Mrs. Ella W. Robbinson, of Nuttree, Va. "Was then in a bad condition, and your reply was that I probably inherited the trouble from my mother, and you prescribed Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. About that time I had an attack of fever and was sick for quite a while, so failed to get your 'Prescription.' In December following was married and then my husband bought me two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Before I began to take it I had bearing-down pains at monthly periods, also dizzy spells. After I had taken one bottle I felt better and had no more pains. After taking the second bottle felt better than ever in my life, and in September gave birth to a twelve-pound baby girl. I am very thankful for your good medicine, and shall tell my friends what it did for me, and shall recommend it to all who are afflicted. We think it the best medicine in the world."

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ike of Wood, Ind. Trainmen to be Fire Fighters.

It is reported that plans are now under way by the Pennsylvania railroad company to install water plugs at intervals all along their system, and when completed it is said that every caboose attached to a freight train will be fully equipped with sections of good hose and the railroad men will then be able to fight all fires when they occur at places where no fire departments are established.

Just in what manner the water supply is to be secured has not been stated, but different plans are now under discussion, and the one that is the most practical will be the one decided upon What has led the company to put this new movement in force is not known, although officials say that this work has been contemplated for some length of time.

Often times fires occurs along the company's property, which if better facilities were handy would not cause nearly the damage as has long been experienced by the company in the past. The fire equipment for each crew will be complete in every detail, and fire fighting will be a new duty to be added to the thrilling life of the railroad man.

SIBERIAN HOSPITALITY.

A Charming Visit, With a Somewhat Terrifying Climax.

Detained at the Siberian village of Krivochokovo, M. Jules Legras remembered that he had a letter to a notable of the place and hastened to present it. M. Gautier in his book on Russia describes in M. Legras' own words the cordial hospitality with which he was received and also tells of the difficulty which concluded his charming visit.

"They had detained me till 10 o'clock in the evening," he writes, "by repeating, 'Why are you in a hurry?' and I was on the point of making my departure when I heard the mistress of the house say in a low voice to her husband, 'Shall I send for the carriage?' To which he replied, 'No.' At this word a shiver passed over me. Doubtless this host, who had made me send away the coachman, was unaware of what his refusal meant, else he would have said to me, 'Here is a sofa; sleep here.'

"My situation was perilous, but what could I do? At the end of a few moments I rose to take my leave, and, having asked if I could get a cab, was met with the reply that at this hour none could be obtained.

"Krivochokovo is a village whose population constitutes the very flotsam and jetsam of Siberian civilization. The village has neither streets nor lights nor police. It is considered a cutthroat spot, where honest people shut themselves tight at night.

"I had neither stick nor revolver, and I had on me a large sum of money. Finally, I was ignorant of the exact position of my inn, situated over a mile away. First of all, dogs threw themselves upon me. I shook them off and started as best I could.

"The night was inky black. Amid the irregular clusters of houses there was no regular street by which to guide myself. As I hesitated I heard a 'Who is that?' It was a watchman of a pile of wood who hailed me. He directed me, and, giving me a large branch that would do as a stick, he said: 'You are wrong, barine, to go about this way without a revolver. The place is not safe. May God protect you!'

"As I approached another cluster of houses a watchman sounded his rattle menacingly and dogs flew at me savagely. When this watchman approached I induced him to accompany me. He informed me that the evening before a traveler who was staying at my hotel, having started early to catch a train, had been assassinated about ten paces from there. Finally we reached the inn. It took a long time to make them open the door, but I finally got inside and reached my room, trembling with fever and fatigue, and fell down helplessly, only conscious of having passed an hour and a half whose remembrance will remain with me long. As for my so amiable host, whose hospitality might have cost me my life, he will doubtless never know of this adventure."

Holding Up the Average.

An English authority says that the quality of written and spoken English in the United States is deteriorating.

Perhaps we do not drop our h's and describe everything that pleases us as "bloody," thus lowering the quality materially and sadly, but if the quality is low just pause a moment to think how we make up in quantity.

In our political campaigns there is sometimes so much language thrown about the hall where a meeting is being held that the janitor has to hire help to sweep it out next day. Sessions of congress and the legislatures do their share toward adding to the total volume, to say nothing of what the ladies do for us in the ordinary everyday affairs of life.

Our language may not be so high class that the ordinary person can't understand it, but there is certainly enough of it.

The Coffee Pot.

In many kitchens the remnant of the morning portion of coffee is left in the pot on the back of the range for a midafternoon cup for the cook. Not only is the rank flavor extracted from the long steeping grounds, but a certain deposit is made upon the sides of the pot which is hard to remove, even by the most thorough washing. This deposit, if left on, will surely taint the coffee that is subsequently made in the pot and injure the flavor of the best berries to be had. The pot should be washed and scalded every time it is used. If any liquor is left, it should be strained off into either a porcelain, china or earthenware vessel, or into a glass jar, when it may be added to any new brew which is made.

Caught on the Old Gag.

A Bellefonte business man posted a sign in his store, $15 paid for 1903 pennies." A traveling man saw a chance to get rich quick. He skirmished around town and raked up three pennies of the date of 1903, paying a premium of $1 each for them. He tendered them to the merchant and asked for his $45.

"Bring me 1900 more pennies," said the merchant, "and I will give you the $15 as the sign reads."

—The best way to rid the system of a cold is to evacuate the bowels. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar acts as a pleasant, yet effectual cathartic on the bowels. It clears the head, cuts the phlegm out of the throat, strengthens the bronchial tubes, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

The Better Way

The tissues of the throat are inflamed and irritated; you cough, and there is more irritation—more coughing. You take a cough mixture and it eases the irritation—for a while. You take and it cures the cold. That's what is necessary. It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. That's how Scott's Emulsion deals with a sore throat, a cough, a cold, or bronchitis.

THE AGILE TIGER.

He Is "Shod With Silence" and Is as Quick as Lightning.

Most wild animals are specialists—that is to say, they are highly developed in one particular direction. The tiger is great as a stalker. His feet seem to be "shod with silence." R. H. Elliot, for many years a resident of India, cited an experience of one of his neighbors illustrative of this point.

He had been much annoyed by tigers and at last tied a bullock out in a clearing and took up his own position in a tree to wait till the tiger should come after the bait. The ground was covered with dried leaves, which in hot weather are so brittle that even the walking of a bird over them can be heard for a good distance.

In no very long time a large tiger slipped out of the forest and slowly edged toward the bullock. His method was so elaborate and careful that the man who saw it used to declare that it would have been worth 1,000 rupees to any young sportsman to have witnessed it.

So carefully did he put down each paw and so gradually did he crush the leaves under it that not a sound was to be heard. Between him and the bullock was a stump about four feet high, with long projecting surface roots. This, plainly, the tiger looked upon as a godsend.

He got upon one of the roots, balanced himself carefully and so was able to walk quickly and silently as far as the stump. He approached so gradually and noiselessly and his color against the brown leaves was so invisible that he was close upon the bullock before he was perceived.

Then instantly the bullock charged. The tiger eluded him and in a moment more had his paws on the bullock's neck ready to drag him down. Then, like a flash, he caught sight of the rope by which the bullock was tied and turned and sprang into the forest, all so quickly that the man in the tree had no opportunity to fire.

SIZE OF A THUNDERBOLT.

Geologists Have a System by Which Such Measures Are Taken.

"Did you ever see the diameter of a lightning flash measured?" asked a geologist. "Well, here is the case which once inclosed a flash of lightning, fitted it exactly, so that you can see how big it was. This is called a 'fulgarite,' or 'lightning hole,' and the material it is made of is glass.

"When a bolt of lightning strikes a bed of sand it plunges downward into the sand for a distance less or greater, transforming simultaneously into glass the silica in the material through which it passes. Thus by its great heat it forms a glass tube of precisely its own size.

"Now and then such a tube, known as a fulgarite, is found and dug up. Fulgarites have been followed into the sand by excavations for nearly thirty feet. They vary in interior diameter from the size of a quill to three inches or more, according to the 'bore' of the flash. But fulgarites are not produced alone in sand. They are found also in solid rock, though very naturally of slight depth, and frequently existing as a thin, glassy covering on the surface.

"Such fulgarites occur in astonishing abundance on the summit of Little Ararat, in Armenia. The rock is so soft and porous that blocks a foot long can be obtained, perforated in all directions by little tubes filled with bottle green glass formed from the fused rock.

"Some wonderful fulgarites were found by Humboldt on the high Nevada de Toluca, in Mexico. Masses of the rock were covered with a thin layer of green glass. Its peculiar shimmer in the sun led Humboldt to ascend the precipitous peak at the risk of his life."

It Won For Sardou.

It is a singular fact that the famous French dramatist Sardou owed his first success on the boards to his excellent handwriting. He had sent in his often rejected play, "La Taverne des Etudiants," to the Odeon management for consideration, and the manuscript was thrown, with some others, upon a table. One day at rehearsal the charming actress Mlle. Berengere was attracted by the handwriting and took up the manuscript, crying, "Oh, what an exquisite hand!" She read the play and recommended it so strongly to the directors that they were induced to read it and then accept it. At the time Sardou was starving. He had gone through seven long years of terrible hardship and privation.

Hops In England.

The English were taught the uses of hops by a native Artois, who introduced them into England in 1524. They met with some hostility, for physicians represented them as unwholesome, and parliament was petitioned against them as a "wicked weed." In 1528 their use was prohibited under severe penalties. Henry VIII. appears to have been prejudiced against hops, for in a manuscript, dated Eltham, January, 1530, occurs an injunction to his brewer "not to put hops or brimstone" into the ale.

The Living.

Sis—Why did you throw up your situation, Ernest? Brother—Because I am going to get married. Sis—But what will you live on—love? Brother—Oh, no! We are going to live on my love's father.

In Danger.

Gregson (in alarm)—Great Scott, I've left my pocketbook under my pillow! Fisher—Oh, well, your servant is honest, isn't she? Gregson—That's just it. She'll take it to my wife.

What we call despair is often only the painful eagerness of unfed hope.—George Eliot.

THE TAIL OF A COMET.

Its Ever Changing Mass and Why It Flees From the Sun.

The tail of a comet is not formed of the same particles which composed it yesterday or even an hour or a moment ago. It is constantly being renewed at the expense of the nucleus. As the long stream of black smoke from the neighboring factory or mill is being continually renewed by fresh particles of carbon released by the combustion going on in the furnace below, so is the wonderful luminous train of cometary bodies being constantly replenished by particles flying from or rather driven from the nucleus by the intense heat of the sun.

Then, again, how infinitely small and how intensely luminous must these particles that go to make up the tail of a comet be! This thought is suggested by the fact that it has been proved that in some cases the nucleus of comets which are only a few hundred miles in diameter will have enormous fanlike tails stretching across space for a distance exceeding 200,000,000 miles and having a bulk exceeding that of the sun by more than 10,000 times! Professor E. E. Barnard beautifully illustrates the formation of a comet's tail by "supposing" thus: "Suppose, for example, that the nucleus of a comet is composed of ice. Then suppose the heat of the sun to be so intense as to rapidly melt that portion of the ice globe exposed to the action of its rays, which are strong enough to immediately convert it into vapor, which ascends toward the sun.

"Imagine now a fierce wind blowing out from the sun, causing the vapor which meets it to be whirled out into space behind the comet. This will clearly illustrate the theory of the formation of a comet's tail, only that the nucleus of the comet is not ice and the vapor is not water vapor, neither is the force which drives it away from the sun a fierce wind."

The unknown force hinted at by the astronomer above quoted readily explains why a comet's tail, as a rule, points in an opposite direction to the sun. The Russian astronomer Brediechen distinguishes three different types of cometary tails—those composed of particles having the specific gravity of hydrogen, those having the specific gravity of hydrocarbon gas and a third class having all the peculiarities of an equal mixture of hydrogen and iron vapor.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

How soon we learn that the average man's bark is about all there is to him.

When people say anything good about you, ever notice what a few are present?

We all of us claim to be natural, but we all of us know that the only time when we are not putting on is when we are asleep.

Somehow the hundred dollars some other man has always looks larger and as if it should go further than the hundred dollars you have.

There are not many sights more depressing than to meet a farmer's wagon on a country road going out from town with a coffin in it.

When a man says he got up nine times with the baby six nights in succession it means that one night he woke up and heard his wife get up.—Atchison Globe.

Hawaiian Huckleberry.

On the island of Hawaii are great thickets of the ohelo, or Hawaiian huckleberry (Vaccinium reticulatum), which the natives consider sacred to Pele, the goddess who is supposed to preside over the famous crater of Kilauea, and which, together with white pigs and chickens, are thrown by them into the boiling red lake during an eruption to appease the wrath of the aggressive dame and thus cause the rivers of lava to cease flowing on their destructive course. These berries grow in clusters on low bushes right on the very brink of the brimstone beds and are so numerous that a bushel may be easily gathered in half an hour. In appearance they somewhat resemble a cranberry, and the flavor is pleasantly suggestive of grapes.

The Word "Expire."

"Expire" in its literal sense is breathing out. Inspiration and expiration together constitute respiration. Izaak Walton observed that "if the inspiring or expiring organ of any animal be stopt it suddenly dies." The Romans spoke of "breathing out" the breath of life instead of "dying," by way of euphemism, just as they said "Vixit" (he has lived) instead of "he is dead." In all languages the reluctance frankly to say "dead" or "die" appears; hence such words and phrases as "pass away," "decease," "demise," "the departed," "defunct," "the late," "no more," "if anything should happen to me."

Miss Prue Dent—Papa says you are improvident and that he will never consent to my marrying a man that is unable to make both ends meet. Orrville Harduppe—Well, I'm afraid I shall never be able to do so. I'm no contortionist. Good evening.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

'WARREN" TO HAVE TOMBSTONE.

Fund Increasing, Many Signify their Intention of Helping Along.

The Republican opens up its columns for a subscription for that purpose and hopes that those who knew him and the singular place he held in the community will help in this effort to keep his memory green a little longer, that the boys when they grow up can point to his tombstone and say "I remember him" and tell their stories of his ways and wonderful memory of all who ever lived in Bellefonte, and was recognized as a friend of everybody.

A Divided Sentiment.

Little Agnes is twelve years old. She is a poetess. She has, maybe, a sense of humor and, positively, she did not like her stepmother. On the latter's birthday the youthful rhymer put forth all her powers to please the lady who had usurped her own mother's place. The quatrain ran as follows:

I thank you for your kindness,
I thank you for your love
And hope God will reward you
By taking you above.

Her stepmother hardly knew whether this was to be taken prematurely or not. She supposed not.—New York Press.

Battles In the Sea.

Fights between sharks and porpoises are said to be common in the waters around the Florida keys, and the fishermen thereabout declare that the porpoise always wins and sends the shark, which usually begins the fight, scurrying away. The shark has to turn on its side to bite, and the nimble porpoise easily keeps out of reach of its snapping jaws and then jumps in and deals the shark tremendous slaps with its tail.

AN INTERESTING STATEMENT.

C. M. Parrish Says He Has at Last Discovered a Positive Cure for Indigestion.

"For years," said the above druggist "we have been waiting for some one to discover a remedy that really will cure dyspepsia.

"I recently learned that a new remedy, Pepsikola Tablets, had been placed on the market, and on investigation I found that at last there is a remedy that surely will come.

"I laid in a big supply because I knew that as soon as the people began to know about this remarkable remedy there would be a big demand for it, and it is selling beyond my expectations."

It is not often a druggist sells a new remedy on a positive guarantee, but unless cured of nervousness, dizzy spells, sour stomach, coated tongue, palpitation and other symptoms of dyspepsia, Mr. Parrish will hand back your money cheerfully and without argument.

No one should hesitate on trying a 25-cent box of Pepsikola Tablets, as they will not cost you a penny should they fail to relieve and cure the very worst case of indigestion and dyspepsia

Triplets, All Boys.

A 14-pound babe at birth is always considered of unusual weight, but three babies averaging that weight is the remarkable and unprecedented record of which John C. Henry, a merchant of Arkanst. N. C., formerly of Bradford, Pa., is wondrously proud. His wife, to whom he had been married six years, presented him for the "first born" Sunday night with three boys. The first weighed exactly 14 pounds and the father was overjoyed. A little later the second came, and it weighed 16½ pounds and the father was overcome. The record was surpassed when several minutes later the third came, weighing 13 pounds, and the father was overwhelmed. Mrs. Henry is about 24 years old.

—A large part of an editor's work a the keeping of certain things out of the paper. For this, of course, he gets no credit. —On Friday evening Joe Barnes and Messrs. Harry and Kirk Taylor had the time of their lives in the Adams Express Office. It read something like a dime novel. The night was dark and dreary. Joe was absorbed in Nick Carter and Harry and Kirk were dreaming of when they were sweet sixteen, when Squal! Grunt! and with the speed of lighting and the noise of ten thousand express whistles, a nice fat porker bounced out of an expressibox and paralyzed the crowd. Joe dropped Nick, and half muttering, although half strangled moved by the piggishness of his nature he began with the others a merry chase after "Herr Grunter," which was to lead in the villains downfall but not before the heroes had the revenge. Revenge! Revenge! and with blood in their eyes, and foam in their mouth they took it. The express boys had butted into a pretty hot game, and one which they will long remember.

To put the brake on the wagon going down the hill is a help to the horse, when the wagon is heavily loaded. But what driver would think of applying the brake to a loaded wagon going up hill? If he did, his sensibile horse would probably balk. Many a man is in the condition of pulling a load up hill with the brake set against him. When his stomach is out of order, and the allied organs of digestion and nutriton impaired in their function, a friction is set up which has to be overcome in addition to the performance of daily duties. A foul stomach makes foggy brain, and the man with a disordered stomach has often to grope his way through the day's business like a man in a fog. He forgets appointments. Problems seem presented to his mind "wrong end to" The condition is entirely remedied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discolery. It puts the stomach and digestive and nutritive system into a condicion of perfect health and gives a clear brain, a steady hand and a light step for the day's duties

When constipation clogs the channels of the body, Dr. Pierce'f Pleasant Pellets will work an effectual cure of that disastrous disease.

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood, instead of being removed from the body daily as nature intended. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills, liver pills. All vegetable.

President's Omelet Recipe Out at Last.

Here is the recipe for President Roosevelt's pepper omelet, which bids fair to become as famous as the corned beef hash of the late Mark Hanna's cook, Maggie.

"Melt one ounce of butter in a saucepan, and in it stir two spoonsful of flour. Use one pint of beef stock, half a dozen good sized mushrooms, half a dozen whole peppers. Season with salt, pepper, a dash of nutmeg and cook for twenty minutes. When done, add a half pint of shrimps, three fresh peppers, chopped fine, and let simmer for five minutes. Prepare a plain omelet and pour in mixture before it is turned over. Serve on hot plates."

This wonderful omelet is being served regularly at the White House. No person seems to know just where the recipe came from, but there are hints that President Roosevelt got it from a famous western Chinese cook who can't be beat in the world in preparing eggs.

Right in this connection is the recipe of "Maggie," who for years made the omelet which hundreds of famous men ate at Hanna's home. According to "Maggie," one puts into a pan a good sized lump of butter, and when the pan is hot, adds the desired quantity of finely chopped corned beef and lets it heat The orignal part comes in the treatment of the potatoes, which are freshly baked, scooped out from the skins while hot, and added to the beef. The mixture is seasoned with salt, pepper, a dash of nutmeg and a dash of onion juice, moistened with chicken broth or beef stock, and served piping hot.

The funeral of Charles Griest whose death was recorded last week, took place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A large company assembled, people came from far and near. The deceased was one whose happy genial disposition had endeared him to all who knew him and therefore he had many friends, and his occupation that of a merchant and clerk had thrown him in contact with the public. The sermon was preached by a minister of Huntingdon the pastor of Charles at his former home and was impressive. Rev. Bergen conducted the services and also spoke. Mr. James Pratt an associate of Charles spoke affectively of the life of the deceased. The singing was done by young men, also associates. Many beautiful flowers were contributed. The casket was laden with them. Charles will be sadly missed in many places and by many people, we know not why he was taken but God knows, and we have only to console ourselves with the thought that He never makes a mistake.

Mr. Waldo VanValin and wife left here on Saturday for Washington State, they will travel with a party of others in a special car, members of the Free Methodist church going to locate in the West. It will be hard for them to break away from friends and home, we sincerely wish them much success.

An important event of last week was a surprise part for Mrs. Wm. Peters at her home on Saturday evening, it was the occasion of her birthday. Mrs. Peters however didn't claim to be surprised, though no one had told her, she just surmised that something was going to be done. There were 28 guests there each came with a load of provision and by the time all were unloaded and the tables arranged it was a very inviting scene, every thing imaginable that was good to eat was there, even smear-case. All did justice to the supper and things were quite well cleaned up. After the supper was all cleaned away a very good social time followed and before it was very late all the guests had retired to their homes. We wish Mrs. Peters many returns of her birthday and as many happy years of life.

MISSIONARY WORKERS

The Womans Society of Huntingdon Presbytery Meets in Hollidaysburg

IN 31ST CONVENTION.

CLOSING SESSIONS WELL ATTENDED

The thirty-first annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Huntingdon presbytery opened Wednesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church, Hollidaysburg, with a large attendance, delegates representing Clearfield, Centre, Blair, Mifflin, Juniata, Huntingdon and Bedford counties being present.

Miss S. R. Lowrie, of Warriorsmark, president of the organization, conducted the interesting programme that was observed. 'Hark the Song of Jubilee" was sung and Mrs. William Thompson, of Lemont, led the devotional service; using as the keynote of the service the thought, "Christ as King." The speaker outlined the need of obedience to the commands of our heavenly King, to establish his kingdom on earth.

The roll call, led by Mrs. M. H. Wilson, of Bellefonte, recording secretary, was responded to by the various delegates.

Mrs. E. M. Bowman, of Hollidaysburg, cordially welcomed the presbyterial society to the church in which the present sessions are being held and the homes of the community as well. The greeting was responded to by Mrs. H. H. Stilee, of Altoona.

Miss C. W. Stewart, who has been present at every presbyterial meeting for the past thirty [illegible] read a beautiful message on mi[illegible]ork to the convention, emphasi[illegible]he truth that the harvest is now [illegible] and briefly reviewing the progress of mission work in all the foreign lands.

Mrs. F. B. Reed, of Clearfield, secretary of literature, discussed "Our Literature." An outline of the list of valuable books, magazines and leaflets helpful for missionary workers was given.

The president then read the appointments of the various committees.

"Rock of Ages" was sung by Misses Moore, Elliott and Mrs. Tucker.

The president then introduced the various speakers on the programme of the presbyterial meeting, including Mrs. John Gillespie and Miss Margaret E. Hodge, of Philadelphia.

Rev. J. B. Rodgers, D. D., addressed the meeting in an interesting 25 minute talk on "Incidents in the Work in the Philippines." A brief outline of the services in the church of Manila was given. There are two sermons delivered at these services—one in English and one in Tagalog. Committees of the members of this church hold a dozen or more well attended evangelistic services throughout the city. The Cebu station was hard to found. It was weak and very fanatical. Superstition and ignorance blamed the Americans for cursing the islands with cholera and malaria; the natives refusing medicine and aid from the missionaries. On the other hand one paralytic, who had been helped, caused the conversion of 300 natives. Manual and academical work by the Americans is a great aid, as in fact are all the schools being established.

Dr. Rodgers' address closed the afternoon session.

EVENING SESSION.

Rev. E. M. Bowman presided at the evening meeting, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. "Christ for the World We Sing," was sung and and the Scripture lesson for the evening read from Isaiah forty-ninth chapter. Prayer was offered by Rev. A. F. Walker and Misses Ingold, Moore, Snyder and Elliott sang the anthem, "I was glad," by Perkins.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. James B. Rodgers, D. D., of the Philippines, "The Philippine Problem From the Standpoint of a Missionary." The question of the Philippines will always be interesting to us from the old law given by God, "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." Since the dawn of their history the Philippines have been missionary ground. The Filipnos owe much to the early friar missionaries; yet their tyranny was strong and severe, to crush and oppress the spirits and thoughts of the natives. This caused the establishment of secret societies, plotting [illegible] It on soldiers and priests. They [illegible] the church conducted in a [illegible] hristianized form. With the revol[illegible] war and the establishment of a new government. Misunderstanding arose. The Spaniards had taught the Filipinos that we were heretics, the scum of the earth. They imagined a new conspiracy against their civil rights and religious liberty. The political problem of the Philippines is also a missionary problem. The young people sent to the islands as teachers were [illegible]ries [illegible]dured many [illegible]y buc[illegible]wn to their [illegible] we[illegible]nd of them[illegible] wor[illegible]re are plans to educate all of the natives to read and write. The Filipinos are sympathetic and confiding. There are splendid opportunities here for government service, in the civil life of the Philippines.

There is a need for young men in sympathy with the need of the Filipinos, men of judgment and honor. This is the Philippine problem as it now faces us and its solution?. It isn't so much what the Philippines think of us as what we will think of ourselves in the future. We have undertaken to educate and fit the Filipino to take care of himself. Let us hope we do not forget it. The natives need to be taught integrity of character. It will come from a perfect faith and knowledge of God. It will help to solve the problem of the government to give to these, people the things we prize so highly. There is a plan to unite the missions or churches. The general name is Evangelical. We believe that we must stand together in facing this problem. There will be no waste of effort, no senseless Christ antivalry. The Filipino is anxious to spread the news of his salvation. They are anxious to learn all about the Gospel. The Filipino evangelist doesn't close the church for need of a pastor—he conducts it himself He retells the sermons he has heard. The results are transformed lives over and over again. Six years work has given about 4,000 members in the churches. The American's duty is very clear. We need to keep alive the truth we have plighted with the Philippines. I fear as the years go by we will forget. It is our duty not only to pray but to keep alive the nationol duty.

What dastardly nonsense has been written and printed about and told about the recent Moro affair. Our American soldiers may sometimes drink or be immoral but it is madness to think they would wantonly slaughter women and children. The annihilati[illegible] of the [illegible] of Mo[illegible]deradoes was [illegible]s[illegible] prot[illegible]fe. We nee[illegible] be[illegible] mind duty as Chri[illegible]t the Phi[illegible]es. We ask your support and help.

Prayer was offered by Rev. E. M. Bowman at the conclusion of Dr. Rodgers's address. An offering was lifted and the service was closed with the singing of our national hymn, "My Country 'Tis of The."

The final sessions of the missionary meeting were held Wednesday, the morning session beginning at 9 o'clock, afternoon at 2 o'clock, the programmes for both promising great interest. At about 11 o'clock Rev. Frank P. D. Hickman, of Africa, gave the address of the morning. In the afternoon Mrs. John Gillespie discussed "Foreign Missions from a Traveler's Standpoint," illustrated by twelve children in foreign costumes.

The second day's session of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of Huntingdon presbytery, which met in the First Presbyterian church, Hollidaysburg, opened at 9 o'clock Thursday morning with a devotional service, after which the reports of the presbyterial year's work were given.

Miss Anna Fisher, of Huntingdon, secretary of the young people's societies and bands, reported general success and satisfaction in these various organizations. The children are doing especially good work to help the missions along.

Mrs. M. H. Wilson, Bellefonte reported from the auxiliaries. While these organizations are not doing much they are holding their own. In a beautiful little poem Mrs. Wilson urged better work and quoted, "We are not holding our own unless God is holding the rest."

The president, Miss Lowrie, stated that though organized in 1875, the meeting of the missionary presbyterial has taken place four times. In Hollidaysburg—in 1876, '86, '96 and '06. A message from Mrs. N. D. Orbison, Bellefonte, "Looking Backward," was read by Mrs. W. L. Lowrie. Mrs. Orbison was the president of the meeting that was held in 1876 but was unable to be present in person this year. Her paper reviewed the great progress made along all lines of the mission work in the past thirty years.

FINAL SESSION.

The final session of the missionary meeting began at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, with devotional exercises. Miss Anna Fisher, of Huntingdon, presided during the Young People's Hour. Miss Margaret E. Hodge, Young Peoples secretary, of Philadelphia, told how interesting the work may be made in conducting the children's mission bands. Miss Hodge then conducted a class in "Christus Liberator," a book for study in the Woman's Mission societies. This was made [illegible]ng to a[illegible] an example [illegible]ation to [illegible]btained from [illegible]o[illegible]e geog[illegible]nd history [illegible]ca[illegible]liscusse[illegible]igently. It was brought out that it is now becoming possible for missionaries to go into nearly all parts of Africa, nearly all the possessing nations there respecting missions for the good they have done. Over 600 explorers have died in Africa, yet their work was not in vain. How much more valuable is the work of missions. May we pray and work, give and if possible g[illegible]land where Christ the liberator h[illegible]red.

"Soo[illegible]the Last Glad Song Arise," was sun[illegible]

Mrs. John Gillespie's address on "Foreign Missions From a Traveller's Standpoint," was decidedly interesting. Fourteen little children in native costume, were used as graphic illustrations to represent Syria, India, China and Japan. Mrs. Gillespie dwelt strongly upon the vast numbers who are being brought out of the shadow of heathenism into the shadow of the cross. The dress of a Japanese Buddhist priest, the only one in the United Stated, was displayed on a tall, dark-haired boy; and the story was told how it was obtained from a Buddhist priest, in the neighborhood of Fryiyami, by an evangelist who secured his conversion. The work of the schools in China was reviewed. The class of education of of the board of missions is doing much to Christianize the Chinese. A little Syrian child was portrayed and two from India, each representing a real child, grown from babyhood, where they were rescued from danger of death by the missions.

A Bible woman was portrayed. These women get $12 a year for being home missionaries in their own town.

The most interesting pictures were two girls dressed as high caste Indian women—one elaborate with colored silks, head ornaments and a multitude of beads the other a Perdu woman in her snow-white, concealing veil. A bride and groom, gaily dressed were shown, and the curious custom of a marriage ceremony was told, how the priest really ties a knot with the groom's sash end and the bride's veil One of the thousand of child brides of India was shown incostume also, and the delightful series of incidents gleaned by Mrs. Gillespie in her foreign travels were ended.

After the annual thank offering was lifted, the reports of the various committes were read. The committee on resol[illegible] reported appreciation of the work [illegible] various officers, regret the remo[illegible] death of members of the socie[illegible] thanks be returned to Mrs. Gillespie, Miss Hodge, Dr. Rodgers and Dr. Hickman for their helpful part in the programme; an appreciation was voiced of the cordial welcome and courtesies extended by the church and the homes of the community; thanks to the Pennsylvania railroad for courtesies extended, to those who supplied the music for the meetings, those who supplied the lunch, and all who contributed in any way to the success of the meetings. Reports accepted.

Committee on place of meeting reported an invitation from Clearfield to meet there next spring. This invitation was accepted with thanks.

The committee on nominations reported but one change to be made in the list of Presbyterial officers—Mrs. E. M. Bowman was named to fill the vacancy of vice president caused by the death of Mrs. Baldridge.

The president, Miss S. R. Lowrie, in an earnest closing address urged a deeper interest in all the lines of work and above all that Christ be put first in all things. "Without him ye can do nothing."

In the closing moments a hymn was sung and helpful thoughts and short prayers given, after which the thirty-first annual missionary meeting of Huntingdon Presbytery was declared adjourned, having enjoyed a very profitable and interesting convention, a note-worthy feature of which was the fact that all the persons named on the programme were present to take an earnest, active part in the work assigned them, and the interest shown by all from beginning to end of the various sessions,

The collection of Wednesday evening for contingent expenses, was $43. Thursday afternoon's thank offering was $73.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. INDIGESTION'S RECORD

"The best remedy I can prescribe for your indigestion, madam, is Green's August Flower. I know of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly."

¶Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden deaths. It is beating heart-failure in its ghastly harvest.

¶You read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in.

¶This should be a warning to you who suffer with regular or periodical attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizures.

¶August Flower prevents indigestion by creating good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way.

¶Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

LIFE OF A SILK HAT

WITH CARE ONE MAY BE MADE TO LAST A HUNDRED YEARS.

And It Can Be Made Over and Over Again as Long as the Frame Holds Together—How Its Twenty-nine Pieces Are Molded Into One.

"Actors," said the hatter, pausing in the act of lifting a chunk of iron out of the stove and dropping it in the hollow flatiron he carried. "Actors—I mean variety actors, of course. They need them in their business. Haven't you ever wondered where all the old silk hats come from when you've seen the comedians kicking each other's tiles all over the stage? Well, such places as mine supply them.

"It takes a good many years to wear out a silk hat. With proper care they'll last to be a hundred years old. Of course before that time the silk will turn red on top, where it is exposed to the sun, but that redness can be overcome for a time. You can make over a silk hat so long as the frame holds together.

"There are twenty-nine pieces in a silk hat. They are the brim, which is in four pieces; the silk lining, in two; the foundation, in two; the gossamer tips between—there are two of these also; the two coverings for the side crown, the two for the tips, the three pieces of plush, the three rubbers, the underbrim, one piece; the two pieces of the band and binding, the leather, one piece; the bow braid, one piece; the label, one piece; the eyelets, two of them; the sticker, or piece of court plaster, joining the sweatband together in the back.

"Cotton cloth is the foundation of the silk hat. It is stiffened with shellac cut with ammonia and hot water. The cloth is cut up in strips, cut on the bias, and then stretched on the block in four thicknesses, one thickness being stretched and permitted to dry before another is put on. The lining is put in first, the cloth being stretched over that, and then, after it has been permitted to dry, it is ironed on the block, powdered gum demar being dusted on to prevent the iron from sticking to the cloth soaked in shellac.

"The block is in five pieces, the center, the two sides and the two ends, which are removed in this order when the cloth body has dried in shape. The leading makers get out their hats on the block they adopt for the style of the season, and block makers then imitate this block until any hatter may buy from a New York or Boston block maker the season's latest block at a reasonable price.

"The block is then removed from the shellac cloth shell, and a doffer is inserted to stretch the hat to the required size, the block being a trifle small. This doffer is simply a felt shape, which fits closely to the block, and thus puts a thickness of felt between the hat and the block. The hat is ironed as soon as the doffer is inserted, this melting the shellac and permitting the cloth shell to adapt itself to the changed conditions. After the ironing it is covered with a coat of shellac varnish, for which the hatter now has to pay $5 a quart. When it is dry again the silk plush is put on with a hot iron, steamed on, in fact.

"This plush comes in rolls like any other and is sold by the yard. It is cut in strips seven inches wide for the crown and two and one-half inches for the brim. The top piece having been cut out, it is sewed to the crown piece and is then put on the cloth shell. Once on the plush nap is turned back at the joint, cut off and stuck on and then brushed back, which makes a joining so neat that it is almost impossible to detect.

"The hat is put on a potance block and potanced, which means simply that it is hung on a round block of cloth covered wood which rests on an elbow iron at the hatter's bench and is finished over again, after having already been finished with a hot iron and plenty of elbow grease. The edge of the brim is curled, the hat is trimmed, bound, the leather sweatband is inserted, and then it is ironed again until it shines like glass. After that it is ready to wear.

"It may be made over whenever the change in the modes is great enough to make this seem desirable, and when it gets too dirty it may be washed by the hatter and thus thoroughly cleansed. When he makes it over he strips the plush from the frame and starts at the beginning again, just as for a new hat, with this exception, that he has the groundwork and has simply to shape it again. If any piece of the silk looks worn he will replace it so deftly that one may not be detected from the other, and thus the silk hat may be said never to wear out."—Providence Journal.

Macedonia.

Macedonia, the land of the three streams, Vardar, Struma and Vistritsa, is hemmed in by lofty mountains, of which the best known or the highest are Olympus, Shardagh and Rhodope, the last named rising to between 8,000 and 9,000 feet above the level of the sea. It is among the most picturesque countries of Europe, abounding in magnificent forests, which climb hills, fringe rivers and cover islands; in wild mountain scenes, wonderful waterfalls, silent, sailless lakes—an appropriate setting for gems of emerald islets, deep gorges, dizzy mountain paths, smiling plains and desolate passes, which ought to prove an irresistible attraction to the traveler who regards genuine danger and real discomfort as the appropriate condiment of pleasure.

PLANT A TREE.

Do Your Duty on the Coming Arbor Day and Plant One.

Governor Pennypacker's request that many trees be planted April 6th, or 20th, which he has designed as Arbor days, should be carried out with enthusiasm. The forests are being devastated in order, to supply lumber and other material needed in these busy times. If they are not replenished it will be but a few years before they disappear and a greater calamity could hardly befall the country. The trees planted this spring may not reach size sufficient to cast much shade on the person setting it into the ground but in the years to come it will delight the eyes of other people and shelter many from sun and storm. It would be well for adults as well as children to plant a tree on Arbor day. The sapling will cost but little money and hardly any labor. It will be a joy to watch it grow and when the planter is no more the tree will be a monument to the memory of one who loved nature and had consideration for his fellowmen. What more noble wish could have been expressed than that told by the last words of former Governor Hogg, of Texas, who died a few weeks ago. He asked that nuts from the favorite tree of his state be planted on his grave and that when they developed the nuts the young tree bore should be distributed throughout the state for replanting, thus replenishing the forests. If the dead statesman's wish is obeyed, and it is likely to be, there will in a few years be a monument to his memory on every hillside and every street in the Lone Star State.

No Mercy for Mosquitoes.

Trenton, N. J., March 29.—A war of extermination against the mosquito, which has given New Jersey such an inevitable name in the past, will be waged unremittingly for the next five or six years, as there is every indication that State Entomologist Smith will receive the $350,000 which he has asked from the state for the purpose of reclaiming the marches, which are the breeding grounds of the pestiferous little insects

The entomologist has marked out 200,000 acres of marsh land where the mosquito thrives. He has satisfied himself in experiments on the Newark meadows that the draining of these marshes will solve practically the whole problem.

The market value of the land in the state is upward of $1,000,000,000. Experts estimate that this value will be enhanced at least 10 per cent by riding the state of its winged pest. The state mosquito department that was the jest of all the funny men has become a pet institution.

Duped Wife-Hunters.

A woman signing her name "Mrs. L. Patterson," of Lewistown, until recently was doing a profitable matrimonial business. She corresponded with a number of men in various sections of the United States, and in a number of cases secured advances of from $5.00 to $35.00 for clothing and traveling expenses She passed off as a niece of a minister, Joseph Shirk, and the dupes were led to believe that they were about to be yoked to the very personification of the Christian virtues.

Her real name is Shirk, and she is about forty years old. She is now held for her appearance at the May term of the U. S. Court, at Harrisburg, for using the mails for fradulent purposes.

Mirrors and Gilt Frames.

Water should never be put on gilt frames. They should be wiped with dry cloth or chamois. This applies to all metal and lacquered goods. After a lacquered bed has once been wet and polished it must be continually polished, so the best plan is to keep it dry as long as possible. Roaches are deadly enemies of mirror backs, and yearly ruin many millions of dollors' worth. For this reason the old silver back mirrors is passing away and the new ones are coated with a composition that is proof against roaches and insects, but which does not give as fine a reflection as the other sort.

Tried to Pawn Baby for a Drink.

New York, March 29.—Mrs. Mary Wilson, a colored nurse employed by Mrs. Annie Sullivan at 2615 Third avenue was told to take the baby out for an airing, and she eagerly complied. The police say that Mary and the baby carriage stopped at various saloons, where the nurse celebrated until she had spent all her money, and then she offered to pawn the baby for a drink. The offer was not accepted, and Mary was hustled to the sidewalk. A little later she was arrested.

Lawful Election Expenses.

There are many inquiries as to what are legitimate election expenses under the corrupt practices act passed at the recent extra session of the Legislature. The act defines them as follows:

1 For printing and traveling expenses and personal expenses incident thereto, stationery, advertising, postage, expressage, freight, telegraph, telephone and public messenger service

2. For dissemination of information to the public.

3. For political meetings demonstrations and conventions, and for the pay and transportation of speakers.

4. For the rent, maintainance and furnishing of offices.

5. For the payment of clerks, typewriters, stenographers, janitors and messengers actually employed.

6. For the employment of watchers at primary meetings and elections to the number allowed by law.

7. For the transportation of voters to and from the polls.

8. For legal expenses, bona fide, incurred in connection with any nomination or election.

These are the authorized expenditures; candidates or treasurers of political meetings are forbidden to pay, give or lend, or agree to pay, give or lend, either directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for any nomination or election expenses whatever, save as declared in these eight exceptions.

Considerable latitude is allowed, as may be seen. All the expenditures permitted are perfectly legitimate, however There are some things that both candidates and political committees must do, and there is no purpose in the law to interfere with anything that may be proper to promote the interests of a candidate or party. The purpose is to prevent the corrupt use of money in politics; to prevent the purchase of support through bribery, either with money or other valuable thing—such, for instance as the promise of a future office. It puts in more definite form the principles of acts which have been in existence for many years.

The former laws have gone unheeded without fear of punishment, because there was no accounting. Bribery with money and promises were so common that it had come to be a recognized part of our political system. Punishment appeared to be out of the question under such laws as we had. The new act provides for an accounting, in which the candidate and the committee treasurer must state under oath just how much money has been expended and give the details of such expenditure. Any attempt to evade this requirement will be most dangerous, and expose the candidate or committee treasurer to a severe penalty.

The corrupt practices act will work a considerable change in the methods of campaigning in many counties of the state. There are few, if any, counties, in fact, where many former practices will not have to be abandoned, but it will all be in the interest of better politics.

Nothing Unusual.

The fact that 1905 had fifty-three Sundays is nothing unusual, although an item appeared in many of the newspapers that not for one hundred years would the like occur again. To prove that the year 1911 will have fifty-three Sundays, just do a bit of thinking along this line:

Each common year contains fifty two weeks and one day. Each common year then begins and ends on the same day of the week. Each leap year has fifty two weeks and two days, and ends one day in the week later than it began. Now to begin, 1905 began and ended on Sunday, and so had fifty-three Sundays. 1906 began and ends on Monday, and has fifty-two Sundays. 1907 begins and ends on Tuesday with fifty two Sundays. 1908 begins on Wednesday, but as it is leap year it ends on Thursday, and 1909 begins and ends on Friday, while 1901 begins and ends on Saturday. All these have fifty-two Sundays. This is six years later than 1905. There are fourteen years of this century which will have fifty-three Sundays, and the differences between the years of this series are 5, 6 and 11 years.

Turning White Through Fright.

A horse that is gradually turning white because of extreme fright is one of the curiosities of the little town of Ware, in the United States This animal was originally a bright bay, without a single white hair on him except a small white spot on his forehead, until recently he was fearfully scared during a thunderstorm, Suddenly, it is reported, there came a blinding flash of lightning and a deafening boom of thunder, and the horse dropped as if he were shot. He was finally pulled to his feet again, but was violently trembling and shaking He was taken into a stable and cared for, but continued to shake and tremble for some time. A few days later the driver noticed small spots of white hair on the horse's body. These did not appear on any one place, but first on his legs, then on his sides, and then on his neck. The spots began to appear with more and more frequence and to grow in size until the horse is now half white, and his hair is still turning. There are no eruptions on the animal and there is no evidence of a skin disease The animal seems to be in the best of health The opinion of the experts is that undoubtedly the horse's hair is turning white just as a human being's does after some sudden scare or worry.

The Pure Food Roll of Honor.

"Good Housekeeping," a well known household national magazine voluntarily made a thorough examination and test of None-Such Mince Meat, and placed it without reservation upon its roll of honor.

In the March number of Good Housekeeping, in the department of "Pure Food Assurance," we find

"None-Such Mince Meat, Merrill-Soule Co., Syracuse, a semi-moist condensed compound of beef, apples, spices, sugar, raisins, currants, boiled cider and salt, without other preservatives or adulterants, no artificial coloring, produced under conditions as near to sanitary perfections as possible."

This guarantee, which could not be bought at any price, ought to satisfy the most particular house-wife. The sale of one million packages a month seems to prove the statement to be true. Your grocer sells None-Such. Try it, and satisfy yourself. You are the one.

Bad Luck Not Singly.

That bad luck never comes singly is illustrated by the misfortunes experienced by James Moyer, of Yeagertown, formerly of Centre Hall. A week or two ago Mr. Moyer left his pay envelope in his pocket and hung his pantaloons in one of the numerous closets used by the employees of the Burnham works for that purpose. Some time afterward, Mr. Moyer discovered that the closet door had been loosened from its hangings, and his earnings were missing.

But this was not the man's greatest loss. A few days ago the house in which the family were living took fire and was burned, together with nearly all the household goods. Further details are unknown.

In the New York Family Story Paper Charlotte May Kingsley's great romance An American Girl; or Hearts and Coronets. The subject deals with the one brought into prominence only lately by Andrew Carnegie's remark that he would not care to have a worthless British Duke marry into his family. Mrs. Kingsley depicts the American Girl true to life with all of a real American girl's abhorrence of being bartered for a title. This splendid serial begins in No. 1654 of The New York Family Story Paper. To enable all to read this fascinating romance we will send you a copy of the paper, containing the opening instalment, free of all charge. THE WOMAN WHO COUGHED.

Catarrh had nearly ruined me. It had eaten away the partition in my nose; produced Asthma, Bronchitis, Rheumatism; ruined my stomach; in fact, gone all through my system. Then Grip finished me. I was a wreck; took cold at nothing; and coughed day and night. The doctors dosed me with opium and quinine. No good. Cough "cures"? Bah! Then Brazilian Balm renovated me. Killed every germ. Took 10 $1.00 bottles. Now I'm like a girl of 18.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—Miss Hester McGinley is laid up with an attack of tonsilitis.

—Mr. Philip Meyer, ex-county commissioner moving Monday to Centre Hall.

—Mr. Meserve moved Thursday into the Morrison property on Bishop St.

—Mrs. D. H. Hastings entertained a small party at dinner Thursday night.

—The night Shifting crew of the P. R. R. has been laid off in anticipation of the Anthracite coal strike.

—Rev. Crittenden moved Monday into the house formally occupied by Olie Campbell. on Bishop street.

—Mrs. Mary Butts of North Allegheny street was stricken with paralysis Saturday. Owing to her advanced age slight hopes are entertained of her recovery.

—Wilson Gephart now for the second time won the best general average offer of a 15 game bowling ticket awarded on the Y. M. C. A. alleys. His average was 152, James Harshbarger next best with 150.

—The first snake of the season was seen lying alongside the pump house spring Monday by Harry Auman and John Anderson, two efficient men employed at the Brockerhoff house.

—Some of our local baseball enthusiasts are practicing in the vicinity of the P. R. R. passenger station. By the work they are already doing the Bellefonte Local Pick-up Team promises to be a snappy one.

—A body supposed to be Mr. John Sanders of Centre Hall was found near Huntingdon along the Huntingdon and Broad Top R. R. Mr. Sanders was a brother of Mrs. William Haines of Bellefonte. Mr. Haines left on Wednesday evening to identify the body.

—Monday night at a meeting of the school board it was unanimously decided that the graduating class of the Bellefonte High school should appear at the commencement exercises in caps and gowns. The number of graduates this year will be twenty-three.

—Arthur the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Johnson died Tuesday afternoon at his parents home in Pine Hall. The deceased was only 4 years old and was a very bright attractive child for one of his tender years. Death was due to pneumonia superinduced by the measles. The funeral took place Wednesday. Interment at Pine Hall cemetery.

—Because Miss Jennie Smith, teacher of a school in Franklin township, complied with the law by sending home an unvaccinated pupil. a strike occurred, every pupil being withdrawn. Acts of lawlessness have since occurred, such as breaking windows, etc. Having sought legal advice. Miss Smith has had the windows boarded up and reports daily at the school house for duty.

—Harry Otto wants to know if the move for a Bellefonte League baseball team has fallen through. "Dutch" says that he can get some fine players here, including Wilbur Twitmire, who has just been made pitcher of the Varsity baseball team at University of Pennsylvania. He also says that a league team could be maintained at a very small expense here. Thats just the spirit Dutch, that the Republican is trying to work up. Get together fans, don't make others push you, but be first and push others. The ice is cracked now so get busy. Call a baseball meeting, get a league team and get it quick. The Republican will help you in every way it can, and will stick by you till, with colors flying and with your well-earned pennant above you, you march in to Bellefonte. Champions of the Central Baseball League of Pennsylvania.

—Fully one million immigrants, or one fifth of those coming to America, go to Pennsylvania. The coal mines attract most of them. Seventy percent are young men and one third of them are illiterated. The Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A. now has sixty miners' Associations and will attempt the task of Christianizing and Americanizing those men. John E. Jenkins, Esq., advocates a greater attention to them. He says: "They need what the Y. M. C. A. offers to young men—social touch and moral leadership. At present the saloon is their social club and rendezvous. The saloon keeper is their social leader and the organizer and promoter of the social relaxations. Our Association has moved on in its large and enlarging work. In 1872 it was the railroad men, in 1889 the foreign field, in 1898 the men of the army and navy, and in 1892 the street car employees, whose needs appealed to the Y. M. C. A. and moved it to action."

—Mr. William Justice smashed his finger while at work Wednesday at the Keystone Lime Kilns.

—Four men fell three stories in a Brooklyn (N. Y.) elevator, all being terribly injured and three are expected to die.

—McCalmont & Co. moved Thursday from the Bush Arcade to the office at their yard near the old glass works site.

—Rev. Cox and Rev. Davidson are holding protracted meetings at the chapel in Coleville. They are meeting with great success.

—The offices of the Central Railroad company of Pa. are being transferred last week from their former location in Temple Court to the 2nd story of the new depot corner of Lamb and Water streets.

—One more of the entombed miners in the wrecked Courriere mine in northern France was removed after having been in the mine for 25 days and like the other men taken out on Saturday last, he is still living.

—The Historical Society at its meeting Wednesday, on account of the unavoidable absence of some of the members, was not attended by a quorum. Some highly interesting papers were prepared for the occasion and laid over to next meeting.

—On Wednesday Helen McCafferty, daughter of James McCafferty, of Logan street, fell on the stone pavement in front of the priest's residence on Bishop street and was rendered unconscious. Her condition was such that she was removed to the Bellefonte hospital.

—Charles Fisher, the young man who broke into Rang's store at Lamar several months ago and also stole a horse from W. H. Brown of the same place, was sentenced on Friday to two years in the western penetentiary at Allegheny. He was taken there Monday.

—Judge Orvis isn't just exactly as popular as he was before license court. The truth of the matter is that the judicial bench shouldn't be burdened with this business, but a board of commissioners ought to take the responsibility and temptation off the ermine-clad shoulders of the judiciary.

—Company B. 5th regiment, will be inspected by Major Jefferies and a regular army officer on Wednesday evening, April 18th. Captain Taylor has got his men in fine shape and without a doubt willshold their high standing in the regiment, the brigade and the division as they have in years gone by.

—The Bellefonte Central R. R. Co. has just sold to the U. S. Government, through E. H. Wilson & Co. Brokers, their combination passenger car No. 3, for service in the Quarter-Masters Department, Fort Hancock, New Jersey. The car was delivered to the Penna. R. R. for movement to destination on Thursday.

—Albert E. Rumberger, a graduate of the Bellefonte High school, in class of '99, was recently elected borough treasurer of the hustling town of Patton in Cambria county. No matter where our Bellefonte boys go, they invariably climb upwards with their eyes fixed on the top, keeping in their mind the magic word "Excelsior."

—The police of Bellefonte should give some attention to the urchins who during school hours congregate in the yard back of the Presbyterian chapel and throw stones at the people passing along Water street, thus endangering life. It was but few short years ago that one life was wiped out of existence by such action and it is to be hoped that an occurrence of the kind will never have to be recorded again.

—The Bellefonte Hospital is crowded with patients, as every bed in the two wards and all the private rooms are occupied. This institution deserves the highest praise for the great good it has been to the town of Bellefonte and the surrounding community. Miss Calderwood, the superintendent, and her corps of efficient assistants are kept busy day and night alleviating the sufferings of the patients. The hospital is entirely to small and should be enlarged to double its capacity in order to accommodate any who desire to go there.

—Mr. Chas. McCurdy left the Bush House Friday evening to take up his residence in the house owned, and recently occupied by Mrs. Orbison on Curtin street. His sisters, Mrs. Scott and Miss Jennie McCurdy, from Gettysburg, who arrived on Thursday, were guests of Mr. Wm. P. and Miss Mira Humes, until Friday evening, when they went to their new home on Curtin street. Miss Mary and Miss Grace McCurdy of Gettysburg, also sisters of Mr. McCurdy, with son and daughter of Mrs. Scott, arrived Sunday afternoon.
